

Financial Analyst and Modeler

Matson Consulting, LLC is seeking a long-term Financial Analyst and Financial Modeler to assist with client projects and document formation.

Company Information:

For nearly 15 years, Matson Consulting has excelled in its mission of offering business expertise that enables rural business to succeed. We have worked within a broad spectrum of rural industries and with hundreds of entities to provide valuable analysis in the creation studies, plans, and reports. Over the years, our main focus has been the creation of feasibility studies and business plans for agricultural value added and local food ventures. As the business has grown, we have extended our reach to include other businesses and significant work with development centers and local governments. For more information, please visit: www.matsonconsult.com.

Responsibilities:

The Financial Analyst/Modeler will assist in the research and development of the financial components of Matson Consulting documents, such as grants, business plans, feasibility studies, marketing plans, or other documents as needed. Everyday responsibilities may include:

- Developing and enhancing complex financial models in MS Excel (assumptions, costs, revenues, financial statements, scenarios, sensitivities, funding requirements, and cash flow analysis)
- Utilizing financial modeling best practices
- Conducting agricultural industry research to verify financial assumptions
- Illustrating data graphically and translating findings into written text
- Drawing charts and graphs, using computer spreadsheets, to illustrate technical reports
- Analyzing financial information to forecast business conditions
- Interpreting data on price, yield, stability, economic influences, and other factors
- Communicating effectively with clients, industry experts, and office personnel
- Presenting and communicating project deliverables/results to clients

Duties require frequent use of independent judgment and a thorough understanding of basic business finance in order to complete general assignments. The position will also require the ability to communicate financial information in written form. Initial training about the industry will be provided. Local and regional travel is required.

Candidate Preferences:

- Knowledge of financial management concepts
- Background in accounting and financial analysis
- Able to communicate effectively in writing and verbally as appropriate for the needs of the audience
- An active listener and critical thinker
- Able to work in teams as well as independently
- Proficient in Microsoft Office Word, Excel, and PowerPoint

Contact Information:

Please send resume with attached cover letter to: jshaw@matsonconsult.com.